Tom Dixon, President of the Tacoma Urban League and Vernon Jordan, President of the National Urban League converse at Sunday Morning breakfast at Eddie Hill's Catering. This was a special "family" get-together for the Urban League Board, Urban League Staff and Urban League Guild.

Them That's Got Shall Get

"To those who have, to them shall be given. And to those who have not, even that which they seem to have shall be taken away." These are the words National Urban League President, Vernon E. Jordan, used to describe President Reagan's budget plan to an assembled audience of Urban Leaguers and friends at their 13th Annual Awards Banquet. Jordan mesmerized his listeners with a look at President Reagan's 'supply side' economics - and the harm that's done to the poor.

Jordan cited the misconception that only lazy Blacks are on welfare, when in reality the majority are Whites.

He said the disadvantaged poor Whites are the ones who were without a spokesperson.

At an earlier interview Jordan stated, that Reagan had provided a platform for the greatest debate since Franklin D. Roosevelt's 'New Deal' - Now America has a chance to decide which way she will go. 'For whom the bell tolls' - She can decide if she will live up to her ideals and the constitution and promote the general welfare.

He stated a poor family will be forced to choose between fuel and food. And that an administration that was elected on a pro family platform is discouraging family stability. He said there was no outcry when the cuts came to foodstamps, housing, welfare - but when social security cuts were mentioned the Senate voted 96-0 against any of that part of the budget plan - because Social Security is only paid to people who have worked - lots of the middle class.

Jordan said 'there is a hard time finding liberal friends in Congress at this point in time.' He went on to say that the private sector doesn't have the legal responsibility to "pick up the slack" - They have a vested interest in a stable and harmonious community. However, it's the Federal Governments responsibility. He went on to say, the poor should not be subjected to the ravages of the market. Stimulation of jobs in the private sector has never been enough.

Later at the banquet, Jordan said conservatives seem to blame the recession, rising inflation and all of the Nation's woes on social programs, as if poor people sat on the boards of major corporations, poor people don't run America. He said social programs have been good for America - and it would take 10 years for President Reagan's plan of revitalization of industry to create the 13 million jobs, meanwhile, what happens to the poor. He said as Blacks, we will survive because we survived, the Atlantic packed like sardines - we survived slavery, lynchings, segregation. We will make it through hard times because for Blacks hard times were never far away.

Dixon Addresses Guests

Tom Dixon, President of the Tacoma Urban League, addressed his guests at the 13th Annual Meeting of the Urban League directing his energies toward the City and County CETA workers who have lost their jobs as a result of cutbacks in Federal, State and Local Government Social Service Programming. "Many of the Urban League's clientele have been left without jobs, housing, food, medical care and without hope," says Dixon.

In an effort to demonstrate the realities of the impact of the budget cuts, Dixon presented three such people who fell victims of these cuts.

Arthur Brown, who was layed off his job and now is faced with the possibility of his wife being layed off her job in October, has the assurance that THA will reduce their rent, according to their income, but other such luxuries look dim in order to maintain their household. He said that 9,600 jobs have been advertised in the Tacoma Tribune since March, but they either require highly skilled individuals or offer the minimum wage.

Virginia Verrett, expressed her concern for the people who are "living in cars, shacks, eating bread and margerine" and suffering from the loss of medical care when they are told by their doctors and pharmacists that their medical coupons will not cover their perscriptions.

Linda Walker, explained her dispair by reassuring her listeners that welfare recipients are not lazy, "we want jobs," she says. There are no jobs for the unskilled. The welfare recipients are penalized for trying to further their education, if they receive a grant for continued education, the welfare will immediately deduct a portion of the grant from the welfare income.

Dixon urged his listeners to care a little more, give more of themselves and their resources to help our neighbors live a more decent and humane life. "We call upon all caring citizens of Tacoma/Pierce County to join us in our noble quest for 'Equality'. Join us by becoming a member of the league, join us by volunteering your service to a league activity/function; join us by educating and informing those around you about the needs and aspirations of ethnic minorities and the poor."

Ray Baca, Lynnette Baugh, Jim W. Burchfield, Haywood Keith, Bill R. Maki, Robert Nicholas, Virginia Taylor, Wanda Thompson, Colonel Milton H. Towne, Pauline N. Yamashita, and Charles R. walker were re-appointed and/or appointed to the Board and Dr. Eugene H. Breckenridge (TUL member at Large), Ted Johnson (TUL member at Large), Ella Mae Crawford (TUL member at Large), Virginia Taylor (Board Member), Lynette Baugh (Board Member), Haywood Keith (Board Member) and Charles R. Walker, Chairperson were appointed to the Nominating Committee beginning in May, 1981.

First Interstate — Opens

Vertist Edwards, FACTS Society Editor, joined by First Interstate Bank Officials

The Pacific National Bank of Washington hosted a reception May 29th to announce the largest reidentification project in American Banking history.

First Interstate Bank of Washington, formerly Pacific National Bank, is a new name for a multistate banking organization. Pacific National's history goes back to 1928, when it was organized in seattle to fill a need for a Pacific Northwest financial house specializing in commercial banking. The idea conceived by William E. Boeing, chairman of the Boeing Airplane Company, and William Calvert, president of San Juan Fishing and Packing Company.

During March of 1979, the Pacific National Bank acquired the seven-branch American Commercial Bank in Spokane. This was followed by the December, 1980, consolidtion with the three-branch Northshore First National Bank. The bank also maintains representative offices in Hong Kong, London, Manila, Singapore, Taipie (liaison office) and Tokyo.

The Seattle-based bank is an affiliate of First Interstate Cancorp (formerly Western Bancorporation) of Los Angeles. The nation's largest multistate bank holding company, First Interstate has assets of $32.1 billion and nearly 900 offices in 11 western states. It is the nation's ninth largest banking organization.

GAO Calls For 8a Death

The Comptroller General of the General Accouting Office(GAO) has issued a report on the Small Business Administration's(SBA) 8(a) program calling the program 'a promise unfulfilled." While the report lauds some of the program's achievements, namely the formation of new small businesses and the success of existing firms on the 8(a) roster, it criticizes the program, claiming that it falls short of its intended goals. Of particular concern is the number of firms which have not graduated from the program as competent, competitive businesses. The Comptroller General contends that 8(a), in some cases, has acted as a crutch and not an aid to these firms. GAO maintains that because these firms are not developing and graduating, they are denying other disadvantaged firms entry into the program. In an immediate and forthright response to the stinging GAO report, SBA administrator Michael Cardenas has announced sweeping alterations for the agency's troubled 8(a) program. In issuing the statement, Cardenas labeled the 12-year-old program "mismanaged,"saying it had helped very few eligible and deserving small firms. The SBA administrator attributed many of the program's difficulties to questionable use of Business Development Expense funds and Advance Payments; inappropriate program goals; and the lack of accessto the program by eligible firms and presensence of large businesses in the 8(a) program. Under the new policy, firms entering the program will have a specified number of years to participate. Upon completion, firms will be graduated to allow space for new entrants. Each year, 200 to 300 newdisadvantaged firms are expected to enter the program, with a similar number completing the program. Under the former structure, firms were allowed to remain on the 8(a) roster for an indefinite period, thus, automatically locking out new program participants. Cardenas has directed all of the SBA Regional Offices ot perform size and standard determinations on approximately 40 firms. Those firms exceeding the size and revenue limitations will be terminated from the program. All of the 2,130 firms listed in SBA's portfolio will be reviewed for program completion, termination or improved opportunity. Major League Prejudice

So there are no prejudices in the Major Leagues? Case in point! Mr. Matlock a Black major league baseball player was fined $5,000 and suspended. Mr. Martin, a white manager was fined $1,000 and suspended. Mr. Matlock(alledgedly) threw his batting glove (a golf glove) into the face of an umpire, Mr. Martin bumped an umpire. kicked dirt on him, and threw two hands full of dirt on his back.

The writer is of the opinion that both men should have been punished more but EQUALLY.

Observation — Getting No Where

Sitting, watching the news.
Listening to what they have to say.
Observing;
Religious was between the Catholics and Protestants.
Vietnam Veterans flashbacks.
The rich living "High On The Hog."
The Welfare situation.
Reagan cutting Federal Funds (no money, no jobs, more on the drug scene, more on the crime scene).

My analysis: It's a two step forward-three step backward situation!

Protect Your Home

You could lose your most valuable investment (home) for an unpaid debt of $500.00 or less - sounds strange? Well, thats true! The system or rules and laws are there and gives such authority to creditors if they choose to use it. Stop!

The laws are also written to allow the homeowner to file what is called a "Homestead Declaration'. What is it--it is protection against judgements with an exemption of $20,000. Example: If you (the homeowner) have been buying your home for about 6 (six) years, chances are you have very little equity, say $4,000. Now, if you owed Billy Collection Co. $350.00 and they were ready to sue in court and actually were successful in getting a judgement against you for $350.00 plus fees and received enforcement authority, you could be forced to sell or lose your home.

Now lets look at the same situation. This time you owe Billy Doorknocker, Co. $350.00. You are aware that a law suit has been filed. Your first step should be to pay Mr. Doorknocker and protect your credit. However, if circumstances will not permit you to pay the $350.00 you should protect your home by filing a Homestead Declaration.

In both cases above your home will be protected up to $20,000 and therefore if you still owed $50,000 on your home and the value of your home is about $54,000 it would make little sense for the creditor to get a judgement enforced because you will get all the proceeds except the amount due the mortgage company andtaxes etc.

This information is for you and to give a general idea on how to protect your equity. Further information should be obtained from your attorney or look up the law yourself, See RCW 6.12.010. You must pay your taxes!

NOTE: You should know whether your investment(house) is under a "Deed of Trust" or a "Mortgage".

For further information call: (206)383-2693 or 473-1621-1622.

Jean Watley's Who's Who

Ed Warren

If I were going to select the Most Congenial Person of Tacoma, I would choose Ed Warren. Ed works with the public and eometimes it is hard to be nice all the time, but not so for Ed. Maybe this is his front, but everytime I have seen him in action, he is the most pleasant person I have ever seen. Even when the customer does not want to be friendly, he has a way of breaking through the ice.

Ed is an employee at the U.S. Postal Service. He floats around the Tacoma area. Presently Ed is at the McChord Air Force Base Post Office.

The first time I met him, it was at the K Street Post Office just about at the end of my day and it seemed like everything had gone wrong, I was in no mood to be friendly when I did not have to be. As I stood in line, I noticed how everyone left his window with a smile, Ed had a kind word for each person. It wasn't the same kind words that he had said to the former customer, but a custom-made-kind word for each customer.

I found out that I was not unique, there were people coming into the post office in bad moods all the time, but Ed knew how to change that determined mind into something more pleasant. One of his customers said, "he makes you have a guilty conscious because he is so friendly." A fellow worker described Ed saying, "He is like a father to me, I love working with him. He is always so understanding no matter what the problem is."

The funny part about Ed is that when he is waiting on you, he is busy as a beaver, working on your mail and you at the same time. He smiles on que and gives you that sympathic look when that's due. After receiving the Ed Warren treatment, you know that he really enjoys every minute of his time spent with you. THANK YOU, ED, AND YOU HAVE A GOOD DAY!

By J.Allen Elkananda

Devotional reading Jer.51:10. Background Scripture Psalm 58:1

"The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: Come, and let us declare in Zion the work of the Lord our God" (Jer. 51:10).

How may we declare the work of the Lord our God except standing in the pulpit looking down at a congregation? By being a standard. God's people are called to be examples, to be "LIght". To be "salt", to be peculiar (distinctive). To stand out as "land-marks!"

Set ye up a standard in the land, blow ye the trumpet among the nations" admonished the prophet Jeremiah. (J:27)

Jesus, after he had ordained the twelve apostles informed them "Ye are the light of the world, a city that is set upon a hill", therefore, you can no longer hide. "Ye are the salt of the earth", therefore, you must penetrate the earth. Your duty is to create a thirst in those you encountered that they may drink of the "Water of Life", that they too, might be blessed. For the Lord hath brought forth our righteousness", and blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled.

As children of God, how is your walks? Are you able to create the thirst for righteousness in those with whom you live and work? Can you say, in earnest My LIfe Is An Example For Those Around Me! Or has someone said so? Should you find it hard to answer the above questions - then I would like to meet you.

Salt is made to flavor our foods and to create thirst, that we may drink. And if we, being children of God, and are not able through our life-styles to cause someone to want to be like us, then the salt has lost its savor.

"Do ye indeed speak righteousness, O congregation? Do ye judge uprightly, ye sons of men?" Can you testify that your talks and your walks do measure up? Let us examine ourselves that we may be found worthy!

"If my people which are called by my name", saith the Lord God; "Shall humble themselves and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and forgive their sins, and will heal their land"

How much longer shall we continue to blame the system and not examine our righteousness? Can we deny we're living in a sick land? Then let us seek the Lord for healing!!!

Dr. J.C. McKay Medical FACTS

Beloved I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health even as thy soul prospereth III John 2. Treatment of Degenerative Joint Disease (DJD).

The treatment of DJD is highly varied depending upon location and the amount of joint deformity. For most individuals the outlook is optimistic.

In terms of medical management, no medication has proven effective in halting the progression of DJD. The need for pain medication varies from person to person. Some patients have so little pain that hey require no pain medications at all. Aspirin is a potent anti-inflammatory and pain reliever, and is ofter most helpful. Constant aspirin therapy (daily) is better than intermittent (on and off) dosages. There may be occasions where episodes of pain are increased and so other agents (Motrin, Indocin, etc.) may have to be used, however, continued use of drugs other than aspirin is rarely indicated. Some patients with disabling hip pain may require such other agents alone or in conjunction with aspirin, physical medicine is also useful in the care of patients with DJD.

There are generally two goals of physical medicine programs for DJD: The first aim is to minimize the forces of work and weight bearing on the joints alignment and motion. In patients with hip or knee disease, avoiding unnecessary walking and stair climbing is helpful. Exercise programs are aimed at strengthening which maintains muscle power and joint motion. It is for this reason that Quadriceps (thigh muscles) exercises for DJD of the knees is important. Weight reduction is also an important part of any treatment program for obese patients with involvement of the spine or lower extremities (hips, knees, ankles). The use of a cane or a crutch can reduce the forces of weight bearing to a problem hip or joint by as much as 50%. In some patients with an unstable knee, braces may be helpful as well.

Certain physical measures are of increased importance for DJD of the spine. For example people with neck disease should avoid hyperextension(looking up) or hyperflexion (chin against chest) positions. They should sleep on their backs with no more than one pillow. Some patients may be hekped by mild traction to the neck; still others with symptoms may by helped by the wearing of neck collar to restrict motion and htus minimize pain. Patients with back complaints should sleep on a hard mattress and avoid bending and lifting. External support by a lower back corset will sometimes relieve mild symptoms. When severe disc disease leads to severe pain or nerve deficits, hospitalization may be required. Consideration of surgical therapy is usually reserved for those patients who do not respond to conservative therapy. The main anatomic areas affected by DJD that are helped by orthopedic surgical therapy are the hip, the knee and the spine.
